Evan P. Oemcke, M.Ed. has a B.S. degree in health sciences and a M.Ed. degree in rehabilitation counseling. He is a certified rehabilitation counselor, certified vocational evaluator, and certified international psychometric evaluator. He is a director-at-large for the American Board of Vocational Experts. He has also served on the board of directors for both the Rehabilitation and Disability Case Management Section and for the New England Chapter of the International Association of Rehabilitation Professionals.

Mr. Oemcke brings a wealth of experience, knowledge, and skills in vocational rehabilitation and evaluation to his work as a vocational expert for Mirfak Associates, Inc. He has provided services at several different vocational rehabilitation companies and consulting firms, including his own. He has worked in correctional, residential, state, federal, and private rehabilitation systems. In addition to his training, skills, and experience as a certified rehabilitation counselor, he has also worked as an adjunct professor, case manager, and direct support professional. In addition, he is the co-author of a 2024 article regarding Nunes I and Nunes II and has presented at national conferences on topics of employability, apportionment, and the appropriate use of artificial intelligence. He is a vocational return-to-work counselor for the State of California. He has testified as a vocational expert at depositions and trials, including at Superior Court in California.
